The Smith Family.

The Hon. Chief Justice or Colonel William Smith, the head of this family in America, was born in 1655, at Higham-Ferrers, Northamptonshire, England. He was a man of great wealth and influence, and for his zeal in behalf of his king, Charles I., his large estate was confiscated, and he was forced to leave the country to save his life. On the accession of Charles II. he applied to him for the restoration of his estate, but was answered by his appointment instead to the rank of colonel and as governor of Tangier, in Africa, which was a part of the dowry of his wife, Catharine, infanta of Portugal. But the Moors becoming troublesome, and his expenses greater than his revenues, he resigned his government and returned to England. Again unsuccessful in gaining possession of his property, he emigrated to this country in 1686, and after some changes settled finally at Brookhaven, Long Island. Having purchased there a large tract of land, it was by patent of Gov. Fletcher erected in 1663 into a manor, known as St. George's Manor, a part of which is still held by his descendants. The government which he held caused him to be distinguished from others of the name, as Tangier Smith. At first a merchant, he was afterwards made one of the supreme judges of the province, and finally chief justice. He was also president of the council of the province of New York till his death, February 18th, 1705, in his 51st year, at his mansion of St. George. He married Martha, daughter of Henry Tunstall, of Putney, Surrey county, England, and had by her issue: Colonel Henry, a man of talents and information, for many years a county judge, had eleven children by two of his three wives, died 1767, aged 88; William Henry (2); Gloriana; Charles Jeffery, died young; and Patty, wife of Col. Caleb Heathcote, an English gentleman, one of their daughters married Chief Justice De Lancey, and by him became the grandmother of Wm. Heathcote De Lancey, bishop of the Episcopal Church in New York; and his sister, the wife of James Fennimore Cooper.

Major William Henry (2), son of William (1), lived on a part of his father's place, married, first, Miss Merrit, of Boston, by whom he had a son, Merrit, who settled in Connecticut; second, Hannah Cooper, of Southampton, by whom he had children: Judge William (3); Caleb (4); Elizabeth, wife of John Woodhull, (see Woodhull family, No. 5); Martha, wife of Judge Caleb Smith, of Smithtown; Jane, died, not married; Hannah, wife of Thomas Helme, of Miller's Place; and Sarah, the wife of Rev. James Sproat, of Philadelphia, graduated by Yale, honored with the degree of D. D., by Princeton, pastor of the church at Fourth and Arch street,s Philadelphia, whose children were: John, Hannah, Olivia, Sarah, and their eldest, Major William, a gentleman of education, who served his country faithfully as an officer in the army of the Revolution, the grandfather of Harris L. Sproat, a graduate of Princeton, and member of the Philadelphia bar.

Judge William (3), married Mary, daughter of Daniel Smith, by whom he became the father of Gen. John, distinguished for his eminent abilities and for the high offices which he filled, and who married for his third wife, Elizabeth, widow of Henry Nickoll, only daughter of Gen. Nathaniel Woodhull.

Rev. Caleb (4), son of Major William Henry (2), was graduated at Yale, 1743, licensed to preach after having studied theology under the Rev. Jonathan Dickinson. He was a man of great ability, and became one of the more popular preachers of the day. He accepted the call of the Presbyterian Church of Orange, in 1748, was elected a trustee of the College of New Jersey in 1750, in behalf of which he exerted an important influence, was ever its warm and active friend, and became its president pro tem. after the death of President Edwards. He married, first, Martha, youngest daughter of Jonathan Dickinson, a lady of genius, refinement, and superior education. She died 1757, aged 31, leaving children: Anna, wife of George Green, (see Green family, No. 7); Elizabeth, wife of Captain John Phillips; and Jane, wife of Hon. Wm. C. Houston, (see Houston family, No. 1); his second wife was Rebecca, daughter of Hon. Major Foote, of Bramford, Connecticut, by whom he had one son, Apollos.

"Then entered ye above road the day and year above written by Mr. Alexander Lockart recorder for the county of Hunterdon."

The property owners mentioned in the above survey were located on the line of the road as follows: John Knowles was one of the first settlers at Ringoes and was the first collector of taxes for old Amwell, receiving his appointment in 1723. Nathan Allen of Allentown, N. J., purchased May 29, 1702, of Experience, widow of Benjamin Field, of Burlington County, N. J., 1650 acres, being a part of the Field tract of 3000 acres, which extended from Ringoes south to the village of Rocktown. Thomas Lambert settled about 1679 at the Falls of the Delaware, and the village of Lamberton, now a part of South Trenton, was named for him. He owned a large tract of land at New Market, now Linvale, and also around Woodsville.

Joseph Hixson owned lands on both sides of the road between Linvale and Woodsville, purchased no doubt of Mr. Lambert. John Reed owned the tract now owned by John L. Burroughs, Esq., between Woodsville and Marshall's Corner, the tract at that time extending to Stony Brook on the east. John Houghton as stated in our last, owned the farm adjoining Marshall's Corner on the north, including all the land from Stony Brook to the above road, now owned by E. S. Wells and the part of the Dr. Macauley farm east of the road. Thomas Smith owned the farms of William D. Hill and J. Guild Hunt, and also the part of the Dr. Macauley farm lying west of the road, the tract being purchased by Thomas Smith, son of Andrew Smith, February 25, 1698.

To Andrew Smith may be given the honor of naming Hopewell township, and a short sketch of his history may not be out of place just here as he was the progenitor of a distinguished family in the early history of the township. In the deed of Cornelius Empson of Brandywine Creek, now Wilmington, Delaware, to Andrew Smith dated May 20, 1688, the tract is called "Hopewell," and when on February 20, 1699, application was made by the inhabitants north of the falls of the Delaware for a new township, they requested in the petition that it be called "Hopewell." There were three Andrew Smiths in succession, among the early settlers of Hopewell township, all of whom distinguished themselves; but in the published histories of the family they have not included the first Andrew, giving the credit of naming the township to the second.

The will of the first Andrew Smith was dated January 16, 1703, and is not recorded, but is on file with the inventory of his estate, in the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton. He resided within the boundaries of old Hopewell township in the vicinity of the present site of the Hospital for the Insane now in Ewing township. In his will, which was proved March 7, 1703, he leaves a legacy to his son Andrew Smith, who married Sarah, daughter of the first Jonathan Stout of Hopewell, and soon after the death of his father moved to the northern part of the township, and settled on the farm adjoining the Hopewell poor farm, now owned by Oliver G. Woodward.

The will also mentions daughters as follows: Sarah, wife of John Parke; Mary, wife of William Schooley, and Elizabeth Smith; also mentions John Fidler, servant, who also came to the vicinity of Harbourton and purchased a farm near Andrew Smith Jr. He appoints his son Thomas Smith, and daughter Elizabeth, executor and executrix, and signed his name in presence of William Hixson, Caleb Wheatley and Joshua Ward, all of whom resided in the vicinity of the falls at that time. The executors bond was signed by Thomas Smith, George Willis and Emanuel Smith.

The last named was the brother of Samuel, the author of "Smith's History of New Jersey," published in 1765, and was doubtless a nephew of Andrew; and George Willis was the father-in-law of Emanuel. The bond was witnessed by Ralph Hunt and Joshua Anderson, and the appraisers were Robert Pearson, Thos. Tindall, and Roger Parke, the father of John Parke who married Sarah Smith mentioned in the will.

All these parties resided at or near the falls in 1703, but several of them came to northern Hopewell soon after, and we hope to give something of their history in subsequent articles of this series. The following is a copy of the petition for a new township to be called Hopewell.

MATTHEW WILLIAMS

Matthew Williams was from Glamorgan, Wales. The following account of his ancestry is from the "Lyon Memorial," vol. 2. p. 129.

1. Morgan Williams. b. 1458. m. Elizabeth Cromwell. dau. of Walter Cromwell.
2. Sir Richard Williams. b. 1481. d. 1556. Great grandfather of Oliver Cromwell.
3. Sir Francis Williams. d. 1598.
4. Henry Williams. b. 1556. He was of Hinchingford.
5. Richard Williams, gentleman, of Aberpyrgevny.
6. Matthew Williams. b. 1606. Glamorgan, Wales.

The following record of the descendants of Matthew Williams has been compiled from, the records in the Recorder's office in Newark, N. J., the extensive New Jersey records in the New York Public Library, the Long Island Historical Library, family records in the possession of some of his descendants, grave stones, the family Bible of Zopher Williams, and such other records as could be found. Particular attention has been given to the line that is descended from Moses Williams, who lived in Union county, New Jersey, and who died about the close of the Revolutionary war.

Matthew Williams sailed from the port of Glasgow, Scotland, in 1635. He spent two years in Watertown, Mass. While there he married a young woman, Elizabeth Conant, who had come from Aberdeen, Scotland, with her parents, on the same ship with him. In 1637 they went to the new settlement, that was being established at Wethersfield, Conn. A daughter, Mary, was born to them. The wife, Elizabeth, soon died and he married, in the year 1644, a young English woman, Susanna Cole, said to have been a sister of James Cole of Hartford and Wethersfield. Matthew Williams, brickmaker, he was called because he had a brick kiln in Wethersfield. That was only one of his enterprises, however, he was an active man and engaged in various affairs. At one time he went to Barbadoes and had some difficulty in getting back. Later he went to Southampton, Long Island, and probably died there, though his family continued to live in Wethersfield.

There was a great exodus from several towns in Connecticut to Newark, New Jersey, beginning in 1666. Amos Williams, the oldest son of Matthew Williams, retained his property in Wethersfield and died there, but his sons and brothers all went to New Jersey. The sons of Amos and their families lived around Newark and Orange. The families of Matthew Williams, Jr., and his sons lived in Orange. Samuel Williams, the youngest son of Matthew Williams, the ancestor, was the last to go to New Jersey. He went in the year 1680 and lived in Elizabethtown. His descendants became numerous in what is now Union county.

There are two men in the following genealogy, who were undoubtedly descendants of Matthew Williams, but whose parentage has not been found in any record that has been examined. They are, Miles Williams (16) and Moses Williams (32). In his will Benjamin Williams (31) mentions Miles Williams as his kinsman, showing that he was descended from Matthew Williams. Miles Williams, in his will says, in effect, that his father's name was Samuel. There were only two men named Samuel Williams among the descendants of Matthew Williams that were old enough to have been the father of Miles Williams. They are Samuel (4) and Samuel (6). Samuel (4) left a will in which he names his

SANDISFIELD HISTORICAL SOCIETY ✓

At the September meeting of the Sandisfield Historical Society, members and guests were treated to an unscheduled presentation by Michael Kline, Folklorist. Mr. Kline is a representative of the Pioneer Valley Folklore Society and travels this area in search of old and unusual folk songs and oral histories.

On his previous visit to the Sandisfield Historical Society, the members gave him some leads as to where he might find some interesting stories.

He was most fortunate in being able to record Rubin Toplitz telling him the story of how he came to America; Winsted, CT, and Sandisfield. Mr. Toplitz is 106 years old and recounted how he escaped Russia and service in the army of Tsar Nicholas II. It is very possible he is the only living person who can give a personal account of the period prior to the overthrow of the Tsar and the emergence of the Communist Party.

Mr. Kline promised to visit us again. He is anxious to talk with some of the Sandisfield people. If you would be interested in speaking with him, please contact the Sandisfield Historical Society, Mr. Norton Fletcher, 258-4520.

The Sandisfield Historical Society meets on the second Saturday of each month at 11 AM in the Meeting House, SandyBrook Turnpike, Sandisfield, MA

Preface

The Town of Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, was established March 6, 1762, and was originally known as Township Number Three, having been granted to a company who petitioned for the same in 1735, but no family moved into the town until 1750. On Feb. 10, 1819 the District of Southfield and the Town of Sandisfield united as the Township of Sandisfield. On April 9, 1838 part of the common lands called the East Eleven Thousand Acres was annexed. On May 4, 1853 bounds between Sandisfield and Tolland were established. On April 24, 1875 part of the town was annexed to Monterey. On May 19, 1875, Act of April 24, 1875, this was accepted by Monterey. On June 1, 1875 the Act of April 24, 1875 took effect.

The Town contains 52.5 square miles or 33,600 acres.

The population by census has been:

The records in this book are transferred from the original town records, and include the District of Southfield, now part of Sandisfield. These records were copied from the Town Books and verified by the Reverend Elisha L. Sawyer, former town clerk of Sandisfield, and again verified with the originals by the present compiler, Captain Elizur Yale Smith.

Several years ago it was the intention of Dwight Smith, D.D.S., of Portchester, N. Y., and a loyal native son of Sandisfield, to publish these records, but, before the work could be completed Dr. Smith died. The present compiler knew of the existence of them and after a long search located them in the possession of James Uriel Smith, Esq., of Berkeley, California. It is due to the kindness of Mr. Smith, his brother, Dwight Timothy Smith, Esq., and his sister, Miss Margie Sophronia Smith, that it is possible to here publish them.

The same orthography is followed as on the original books, but in some few cases, the present compiler has added, under births, in parentheses, the maiden name of the wife, as for instance: "Smith, Stephen and Polly (Mary Canfield)." This was done in cases where it was positively known to the compiler, from existing records.

It is the intention of the compiler to follow this volume with another: "Gravestone Inscriptions of Sandisfield," and then: "Church Records of Sandisfield."

As an addenda, at the end of this volume, is a key to the Sandisfield men who served in the Revolution. This key refers to the 17 volumes of Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution. For instance see Vol. II, page 298 and on this page in the afore-mentioned books are listed: "Frederick Bosworth, Jabez Bosworth, John Bosworth et al."

This book is dedicated to Dwight Smith, D.D.S., born in Sandisfield, 1838; died in Portchester, N. Y., 1926.

Elizur Yale Smith,
Editor and Compiler.

Kinderhook, N. Y.
May 7, 1935.

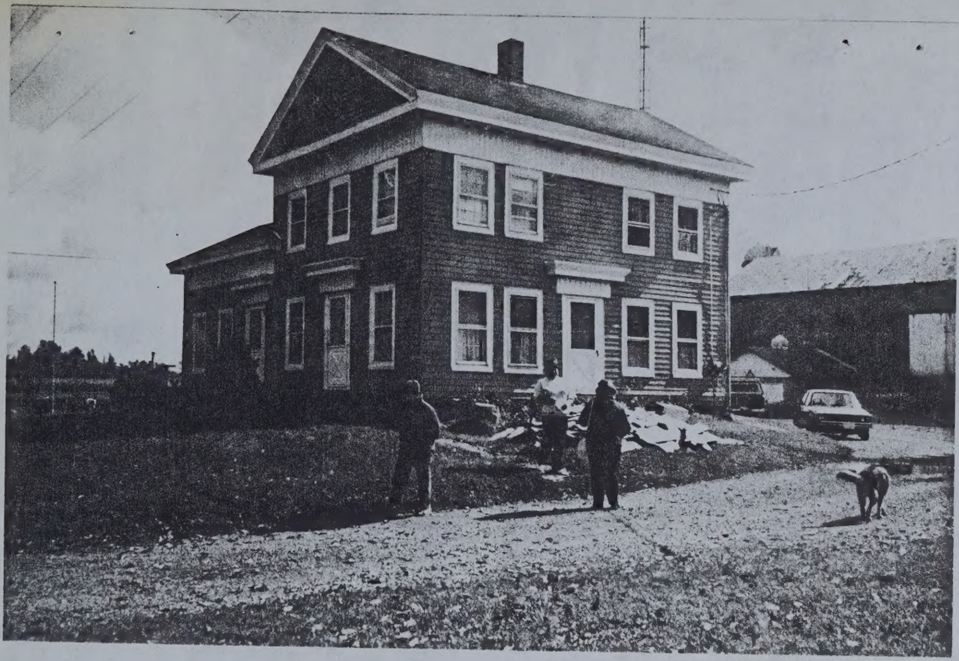
To the Year 1850



SMITH FAMILY

The sign out front says "Smith Heritage Farm" and the folks inside are the fifth generation to live there.

Levi and Permelia built the house in 1832, and it took three years from start to finish. The house is made of solid plank walls and has beams running from the basement to the attic in all four corners. Their three children were William, Newton, and Elliott.

William and Elvira were the second generation. He was a well-to-do dairy farmer and very active in the church for which Levi donated land and monies. William built homes for his two children, Levi and Ina Smith Cole, who left the farm after they married.

Eli LaFern, called "Fern" — William's youngest son — took over the farmhouse around 1916 with his wife Laura "Belle" Kinne Smith and farmed and sold machinery until his lingering death in 1925. Belle built a small house in 1936 around the corner from the homestead after her son's marriage and lived there until her death at 96. This was the third generation.

Kenneth, Belle and Fern's only child, the fourth generation, went into farming by necessity rather than choice. While still in high school the sole operation fell on his shoulders and he managed with lots of neighborly help. He married Minnie Miller June 29, 1927. They made many improvements to the homestead and lived there until 1974 when they remodeled and moved into the house that Belle built. For years Kenneth hauled coal and slag with his own truck besides farming. Minnie, a professional in all she undertakes from baking bread to cutting hair, is a talented seamstress and crochets and knits expertly. She is best known for her teddy bears, having made well over 180.

Their daughter Janet, who is as gifted as her mother, married LeRoy Lipps August 30, 1959, and they own and operate a 300-acre dairy farm in Wayne. They are the parents of Lisa Lipps Kinter and Mark Lipps and have one grandchild, Ryan Kinter, at this writing.

Daniel "Danny" and Susan "Jane" VanAllen, the fifth generation to live in the house, were married September 30, 1966 on her parents' 23rd wedding anniversary. Their daughter, Wendy Sue, born July 27, 1970, is the sixth generation on the farm.

Danny's main vocation is dairy farming which he has done since he was fourteen. After high school and two years of drafted service in the Army, he came home to the life he loves. He also has worked at a machine shop in Andover for the last six years. A quiet soft-spoken man, he is well liked in his community.

Jane, a licensed practical nurse, has had a variety of jobs from private duty to hospitals and rest homes. She and Danny on occasion have cared for people in their home.

In 1976 the family farm was honored for 100 years of continuous operation by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. — Susan Jane Smith

On George Washington's birthday, February 22, 1916, the City of Tyler acquired its second cemetery. It contains 46.79 acres and was a part of the Green Lane Survey No. 215. Some of it was conveyed by Laura A. HAMVASY to E. J. and Mary B. ALLMAN in 1913. This land was bought from Alex WOLDERT and was paid for with four promissory notes bearing 10% interest. Note #1 for $2,096.40 came due Sept. 1, 1918. Note #2 for $1048.20 came due Sept. 1, 1919. Note #3 for 1048.20 fell due Sept. 1, 1920 and Note #4 for $1048.20 became due Sept.1, 1921. Although the cemetery was paid for in 1921, the city didn't have it recorded until June 7, 1935.

Located one and three-fourths miles southeasterly from the courthouse in Tyler, the new cemetery became known as ROSE HILL. It is bounded on the west by South Broadway, on the north by Troup Highway, on the east by South Donnybro6k and on the south by Wilma Street. This record is known as Abstract No.589 and is recorded in Deed Records of Smith County, Texas, Volume 323, Page 397

The first cemetery caretaker remembered in Tyler was Mr Will SIMMS who looked after Oakwood for many years. Mr. John MARTIN was the first "Cemeterian" to be in charge of both Oakwood and Rose Hill. Following Mr. Martin, Mr. Reed NUNN held the position until Mr. A. R. PRITCHRRD was appointed Cemeterian in 1949. He served until his retirement in 1976. Mr. Robert CRANE is presently Cemeterian.

Rose Hill was opened for burials in April 1917, and on May 2, 1917, Mr. Assad John SARKIS, born in 1882 in Mt. Lebanon, Syria, was buried. His is the first known grave in Rose Hill. A few buried there died earlier than that, such as "Baby" MOORE who died in 1888 and Mary Aldrich MOORE who died in 1901, but their remains were moved in at a later date. Rumor has it that some of the old horses used by the Tyler Fire Department were buried in that area. The only real indication of this came when Wilma Street was being cut through and bones much too large for a human were uncovered. Rose Hill is the final resting place for numerous veterans of the Civil War through the Viet Nam War. It contains people from paupers to multi-millionaires. On Nov. 3, 1955 seventeen paupers were moved to the pauper section on the south end of the cemetery so South Broadway could be cut through.

The cemetery was fenced with a chain link type fence in 1960. The office was built about 1958 by Denson Construction Co. at a cost of $5,268. Rose Hill has been the victim of some vandalism over the years. Two grave markers were stolen and never recovered. The office has been broken into twice but only two forks were missing. A few carelessly parked cars have rolled down the hills and knocked over or broke a few markers. One lady would like to sell the crypt her husband lies in because she wants to remove his remains to the town where she now lives.

Mr. Pritchard said he has seen as many as six burials in one day but the average is about 300 a year. A couple of sections are known as "Babyland". It was there that babies of military personnel at Camp Fannin were buried. When the military societies decorated veteran graves with American flags, Mr. Pritchard plotted them on a cemetery map.

Very few "spook" stories have grown up around Rose Hill. One night a lady called to tell him she could see two red lights moving from a marker up the hill and back. Upon investigation he found two candles burning on a marker. One day Mrs. Birdie HARGROVE visited the cemetery, ostensibly to visit the graves of her Uncle and Aunt, Richard B. and Mattie Taylor LONG. She brought her beautiful old green parrot along and he escaped from her. She was unable to retrieve him and called Mr. Pritchard in the night for help. Together they finally caught him. It was her expressed desire that the old bird be put to sleep and buried with her when she died. No matter who or what lies buried in ROSE HILL, MAY THEIR SOULS REST IN PEACE.
